Dear Michel,

Hi, Michel. How are you? I traveled to Paris to visit my cousin this summer. I stayed there for two weeks. We went to *the Louvre Museum. It is one of the biggest museums in the world. We needed a few days to look around every corner. It was surprising that there were a lot of tourists and it was difficult to move. My cousin took me various places in Paris. I went to *the Eiffel Tower and *Arc de Triomphe. She told me some stories about history of Paris, the stories were very interesting for me. I wanted to visit *Mont-Saint-Michel, but we didn't have enough time to go there. I bought some gifts at *Galeries Lafayette. I want to give you one of them. Do you have anytime to meet me?

Your friend,
Lisa

Dear Lisa,

Thank you for your email. I'm so happy to hear your trip! It's amazing that you went to Paris. I started learning French at university this year. I really want to study there someday. I have never been there, so I'm very interested in your trip. There are many differences between Japanese culture and French culture. I'd like to hear more next time! I want to meet you, too! I'm glad you bought a gift for me. I'm free next weekend. How about meeting at Nagoya Station on next Sunday? A new restaurant was opened near the station last month. Let's go for lunch. Take care and talk to you soon!

Your friend,
Michel

V. 次の英文を読んで、問1～問5の質問に対する適切な答えを①～④の中から一つ選びなさい。

A long time ago, a boy named Owen lived in a small village. The village was quiet, with hills and rivers around it. Owen was kind and liked to learn new things, but he sometimes wanted to be rich and important. He dreamed of having many coins and buying nice things.

One morning, Owen walked near the river. He saw something shiny in the *mud. It was a golden coin. The coin was round, heavy, and very bright. Owen had never seen a coin like that before. He was excited and ran to the market. He wanted to buy sweets with the coin.

The shopkeeper looked at the coin and said, "This is not a normal coin. Where did you get it?" Owen didn't want to lose the coin, so he said, "It was a gift from my uncle." The shopkeeper didn't believe him. Soon, the village *elder came and said, "This coin has the mountain *spirits. It comes to people with a good heart. But if someone *lies or uses it with *greed, bad things will happen."

That night, strange things happened. Owen's house made scary sounds. His food went bad. The river near his house became *dirty and dark. Owen was afraid. The next morning, he went back to the river and said, "I'm sorry! I lied! I don't *deserve this coin!" Then, the wind was soft, and said, "'*Truth is important. Only honest people can live in peace."

Owen put the coin back in the mud and remember to be honest. The next day, his house was quiet, the food was fresh, and the river was clean again. People in the village didn't talk about the coin. They talked about Owen's *honesty. He was not rich, but he was *trusted by everyone. He learned that being honest is better than being rich.
