Q : Lee Tang, where are you from? How long have you been in Japan?

A : I am from Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. First, I lived in Kobe and studied at a Japanese language school for two years. After that, I came to Tokyo and entered International Christian University (ICU). Now I am a junior, a third-year student majoring in mass media and communication.

Q : Why did you decide to come to Japan?

A : I was influenced by my father. He has worked for a Japanese company in Singapore for 25 years. When he was a student, he came to Japan and studied at Nanzan University in Nagoya. When I was a small child, he often told me about his wonderful experiences in Japan. Since childhood, I have been interested in Japanese culture and martial arts.

Q : How did you choose your university?

A : I have chosen ICU because I have wanted to learn from a great professor of mass media and communication. Also, students from around the world come to study under the ICU bilingual education program. We can enjoy international experiences.

Q : How is campus life *under a state of emergency?

A : ICU has supported international students during the coronavirus pandemic. Staff members have helped us out by giving specific advice. Now we can attend some classes in person, but most lectures are given online. Because of COVID-19, we have few chances to meet friends on campus. Luckily, I work part-time at a convenience store twice a week. Most customers are kind and friendly. During my part-time job, I can practice Japanese and learn a lot.

Q : What impresses you the most when you are staying in Japan?

A : I am surprised that people in Japan just go out under a state of emergency. In central Tokyo, department stores are full of many people shopping and dining. Of course, they wear masks, but they go about their business as usual. In Malaysia, during the lockdown, we must stay at home all the time. We may not go out. If we break the restriction, we must pay a fine.

(注) *under a state of emergency : 緊急事態宣言下

Q : What are you going to do after graduation?

A : I have not decided yet. Of course, I want to get a job in Japan. Also, I want to go on to graduate school and focus on cross-cultural communication studies. Because of COVID-19, I have not gone back to Kuala Lumpur and met my family for a long time. I need to talk to my parents about my future.

Q : Many students want to study in Japan. Do you have any advice for them?

A : Moving from your hometown to a new country may be a big change, but you can grow through new experiences. Also, there are people here in Japan who will help you. If you have a big dream, you should come to study in Japan.
